Ten Lower Mainland Provincial Parks

7. Shannon Falls – 60 km
With almost 500,000 visitors annually, Shannon Falls Provincial Park is a very popular picnic spot! Spectacular Shannon Falls, 335 m high, is the third highest waterfall in B.C. There is an easy trail leading to a viewpoint for the falls. In summer, the parking lot is often full by noon, so remember to get here early.

8. Rolley Lake – 65 km
Rolley Lake Provincial Park provides a quick escape from urban life. The park is a mainly flat wilderness area. The small, warm-water lake has great swimming, fishing, and canoeing. Sixty-four campsites are nestled in the trees near the lakeshore. Visitors can also enjoy picnicking, interpretive programs and short hikes.

9. Alice Lake Provincial Park - 75 km
Alice Lake Provincial Park is surrounded by mountains, forests and grassy areas. There are four lakes in the park, which are popular for swimming, canoeing and fishing. Picnicking and hiking are also popular here. The trail around Alice Lake is very popular for an evening stroll. For the more adventurous, there is the beautiful Four Lakes Trail.

10. Cultus Lake – 100 km
Cultus Lake Provincial Park is one of the most popular recreation destinations in the Lower Mainland. The lake is large and warm, and surrounded by forested mountains. Visitors will find four campgrounds, a large area for picnicking and boating, and great excellent fishing, water skiing, windsurfing and hiking.
