

Services For BC Hunters Are Moving Online

The Province has launched a new BC Hunting website www.gov.bc.ca/hunting as a first step in creating a full-service online system for hunters.

The BC Hunting online system will give you instant access to a range of products and services. This April, we'll launch online Limited Entry Hunting (LEH). The draws will follow the same rules as before, but now you can apply from home, any time of day, and track your application(s) in real time.

Your Fish and Wildlife ID (FWID)

To get started in April, you'll need a FWID to apply for LEH or to buy a hunting licence. The FWID is a permanent number linked to your personal online profile, and will be your passport to hunting services.

The FWID replaces the old BC Hunter Number card, but don't worry – if you already have a BC Resident Hunter Number, your new FWID will be the same number, with three extra digits.

It's easy to get your FWID. Come April, just go online and follow the simple registration process. Whether you're a first-time hunter or a pro, the system will automatically generate your new FWID.

There is no cost to get your FWID.

Don't want to use the online service?

We're happy to accommodate you. Just drop into any Service BC, FrontCounter BC or participating vendor location or call the FrontCounter BC Contact Centre at 1-877-855-3222.

Watch for our new services coming online in April!
In the meantime, for the latest news and updates, visit www.gov.bc.ca/hunting

